

Leadership

Agents of change in civic life

Mission: To develop and practice effective individual and collective leadership skills which make a difference in society.

The Leadership RLC is a two year community where students share an interest in making a difference in society by combining their civic and leadership skills to serve the public good. Leadership students play an important role on campus by helping direct the American Democracy Project, and are also engaged in the wider community through mentoring younger students through a newspaper literacy program and the Peace Corps Correspondence Match Program in the local public schools.

Wellness

Students promoting a healthy body and mind

Mission: To promote physical, emotional, social, community, intellectual, and spiritual dimensions of wellness.

The Wellness RLC is a two-year community where students grow together in the development of attitudes and practices that foster holistic well-being in a community of people who come together with a shared commitment to pursue all the dimensions of wellness. Students have the opportunity to participate in health fairs, campus and community service projects, the annual Bobcat Ramble, blood drives and ultimately create an environment that values, encourages, and facilitates the pursuit of a healthier lifestyle.

Casa Mondo

Where your home is the world

Mission: To share different cultures and develop cross-cultural skills for living in the 21st century

Residents of Casa Mondo share their community with those from different cultural backgrounds and are active participants in the community's various programs such as international dinners, discussions on global issues, and foreign film nights. Casa Mondo has traditionally fostered a close and supportive community, and past residents have often traveled abroad to visit their roommates in their home countries. This RLC is ideal for students planning to study abroad or who have an interest in international affairs.

Entrepreneurship

Where innovation is embraced

Mission: Learn business concepts and the benefits and risks of new enterprises, including opportunities to meet top executives in business.

Entrepreneurship explores the meaning of entrepreneurship, intrapreneurship, and innovation with others who share similar interests. Whether you want to work for a global corporation, or open your own shop, you'll enjoy experiences that enhance your understanding of how to take new ideas and bring them to market. Following the examples shared by local entrepreneurs and business professionals, you'll have the opportunity to launch an entrepreneurial venture that will give you experience and the first-hand knowledge of what it takes to launch and expand successful enterprises.

Fine Arts

Creative approaches to living and learning

Mission: Experience all disciplines in the arts by attending fine art openings, music and theatre events, and interacting with artists in their working environments.

The Fine Arts RLC provides an opportunity to live alongside like-minded individuals who share your appreciation for the creative process. As a member of the Fine Arts community, you'll have the opportunity to attend a variety of exhibitions, concerts, plays, and become involved in the Milledgeville community. In addition, you'll learn from artists-in-residence as you engage them in discussions on their work.

Honors and Scholars

Building global citizens

Mission: To examine global issues, connect to those issues, and take the first steps toward global citizenship.

The Honors RLC focuses on the theory and practice of global citizenship. Over a two-year period, students examine the idea of global citizenship — what it means to be a citizen in and of a global society — and explore ways in which they can positively impact these issues from here on campus. Students connect the local to the global, and in so doing take their first steps towards global citizenship.
