

Academic Affairs Excellence Awards

Application Form

Name: Dr. Mandy Jarriel

Rank: Professor

Department: School of Health and Human Performance

Award applying for:

(Check one)

	Excellence in Teaching Award*
	Excellence in Online Teaching Award*
	Excellence in Scholarship & Creative Endeavors Award*
X	Excellence in University Service*
	Excellence in Scholarship of Teaching & Learning Award*
	Department/Program Excellence Award^
	Irene Rose Community Service Award^
	Laurie Hendrickson McMillian Faculty Award^

*college selection required before being forwarded to university

^university awards

College nominees' final applications received by Center for Teaching and Learning (ctl@gcsu.edu) by March 1.

Please insert the required documentation in the pages below for the award category you have noted above. Detailed information associated with each award is available online at the Center for Teaching and Learning website.

School of Health & Human Performance

College of Health Sciences
Campus Box 112
Milledgeville, Georgia 31061-0490
Phone (478) 445-4072
Fax (478) 445-4074

February 1, 2023

To the Excellence in University Service Award Committee Members:

I am writing this letter of support for Dr. Amanda (Mandy) Jarriel for the Excellence in University Service Award. Mandy has been a valued member of this university and the School of Health & Human Performance (SHHP) for 16 years – predominately as a Professor in the Athletic Training (AT) Program. Because of her master's degree in Health Promotion, she has also been consistently utilized in the BS Public Health and MS Health Promotions programs. And for the past three years, Mandy has served as the Assistant Director for the School of Health & Human Performance.

Dr. Jarriel's dedication to Georgia College & State University (GCSU), the local community, and her profession has been outstanding. Mandy has always valued Milledgeville, having two degrees from GCSU, getting married here, raising her children here, volunteering with the local recreation department board of directors and giving back to a community that has meant so much to her and her family.

Mandy has a long history of service to the athletic training profession. For the past six years she has served as a professional reviewer for the Council on Accreditation for Athletic Training Education (CAATE) – the national accrediting body. She travels to other institutions around the United States (US) to evaluate athletic training programs seeking accreditation or re-accreditation. She began as a “reader” who provided feedback from the documents submitted to being a full reviewer traveling to different institutions to conduct on-site assessments for accreditation.

In addition, Mandy formally served as the Program Director for the GCSU Athletic Training program and the faculty advisor to the GC Athletic Training Student Organization. Dr. Jarriel spearheaded writing both the USG proposal for a new master's program and the proposal to CAATE seeking approval to transition the BS in AT to the master's in AT (MSAT). She was the university's lead when CAATE came to campus as we sought to accredit the new MSAT program. Writing the proposal for CAATE was intensive – requiring Dr. Jarriel to address a multitude of new accrediting standards that were now mandatory for all entry-level master's degree AT programs. We were successful with achieving approval from the USG and CAATE. Mandy also served as a mentor to the first two cohorts of MSAT students assisting them with developing and writing research proposals.

In the local community Mandy has been actively involved with the Baldwin County Recreation Department for the past three years. She has written grants for them to buy first aid kits and safety equipment for every team; helped organize volunteer coaches; and now serves on their Board of Directors as the secretary. She continues to assist the board with finding new monies and avenues to have access to better safety equipment and personnel during all recreational sporting events.

Mandy's service to GCSU reflects too many committees to count (university, college, departmental/school). Just to mention a few, she has worked as a member of the search committee for the Provost, and also for the Dean of the College of Health Sciences. She has served on the university Excellence in Teaching Award committee for the past five years. In addition, Mandy has been a Women's Leadership Faculty Fellow then a Faculty Fellow Associate, and now she serves as the Co-Chair with the Associate Provost, Dr. Holley Roberts.

Since 2020 Mandy has served as the Assistant Director of SHHP. In her capacity as Assistant Director, Dr. Jarriel serves as the chair of almost every search committee; serves as the chair of departmental/school pre-and post-tenure committees as well as the chair of most tenure and promotion committees. But her main focus is everything undergraduate. She has done an outstanding job with this role and serves SHHP extremely well.

One would be hard-pressed to find anyone locally, at GCSU or within her profession, who would not tell you the phenomenal work she does. She is truly a dedicated servant leader. Her SRIS data every semester is clearly indicative of her servant style as a teacher.

There would be no one more deserving of this recognition than Dr. Mandy Jarriel. She is quick to volunteer for most any service opportunity and does an outstanding job with follow through. I highly recommend her for this recognition and honor.

Sincerely,

Dr. Lisa M. Griffin
Director
School of Health & Human Performance

GSMST

The Gwinnett School of Mathematics, Science, and Technology

University Teaching Excellence Awards Committee
Georgia College
Milledgeville, GA 31061

8 February 2023

Dear Members of the University Teaching Excellence Awards Committee:

I wholeheartedly write in full support of Dr. Mandy Jarriel's nomination for the Excellence in University Service Award. Her commitment and dedication to Georgia College is second to none, and I can think of no one more deserving of this award than Dr. Jarriel.

Dr. Jarriel's list of accomplishments in the area of service to the institution over the years is lengthy, and her external service is equally impressive, improving her alma mater from her first day as a lecturer at GC in 2006. Her CV speaks for itself, but instead of listing awards and explaining why each line of her CV qualifies her for this award, I wish instead to focus on why the Mandy Jarriel who shows up to work every day at Georgia College deserves this accolade.

I first met Dr. Jarriel nearly six years ago when I joined the School of Health & Human Performance, and one of our first interactions concerned preparation for the Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education's accreditation visit for the new Master of Science in Athletic Training program. It was clear from my first day the effect of Dr. Jarriel's dedication and service to Georgia College—forging a path forward for athletic training at GC, resulting in the first public graduate degree in AT in the State of Georgia. Her commitment to this process resulted in a ten-year accreditation for the program, which is now recruiting its fifth cohort. As I quickly learned, this level of dedication was evident in everything Dr. Jarriel does and has done for GC.

In SHHP, Dr. Jarriel wears many hats and does many different things. On any given day, she is teaching her own classes, covering for colleagues or staff for any reason (reasons never matter to Mandy, so long as she can help), volunteering with initiatives, advocating for students, reducing barriers to graduate education, clarifying graduation progress with the Registrar's Office, supporting teaching and learning initiatives, and promoting the culture of SHHP as a warm, inclusive department. As someone who worked closely with Dr. Jarriel for over five years, I feel her service to the University is extremely difficult to sum up. In many ways, it is immeasurable. Dr. Jarriel's service is in the committees and initiatives she joins and supports; it is in the students she mentors and advises; and it is in the roles she takes on.

Arguably more importantly, her service is also in the informal, day-to-day interactions with faculty, staff, and students. I have witnessed her encourage students to seek mental health support, help colleagues experiencing difficulties, guide junior colleagues in career development, and fiercely advocate for students who need a champion. She genuinely cares about the mission of GC, COHS, and SHHP, encouraging everyone she encounters to be the best version of themselves. The betterment of Georgia College is in everything that Dr. Jarriel does – her dedication to making SHHP, COHS, and GC welcoming and inclusive goes alongside her ability to make it efficient and effective.

I would also like the committee to know the extent of Dr. Jarriel’s service outside the physical walls of Georgia College. Her dedication to the community recreation leagues has led to an increase in the safety of our youth, and her infectious passion for the Old Capitol Soccer league has led to many improvements concerning Baldwin County youth sports safety. Her dedication to supporting her students has resulted in many going into fields to improve health for disadvantaged members of our community and state, and she has helped students remove barriers to higher degrees and qualifications. In my own journey, when I decided to leave Georgia College to follow a new path into teaching, Dr. Jarriel quickly became one of my staunchest advocates.

Thank you for taking the time to review this letter and consider Dr. Jarriel for this award. I know many people at Georgia College would qualify for nomination for their service, but I cannot think of many who embody the values that Dr. Jarriel demonstrates every day. I appeal to you not just as a former colleague of Dr. Jarriel, but as a member of the Bobcat alumni community to recognize the depths of her service to the university and the impact she has made during her career at Georgia College– she is the best of us.

Sincerely,

Sarah McCook

Sarah McCook
AP & Honors World History Teacher
Gwinnett School of Science, Mathematics, and Technology

Georgia College Excellence in University Service Award

Recommendation for Amanda Jarriel:

I can say without reservation that Dr. Mandy Jarriel would be the ideal candidate for the 2023 Georgia College Excellence in University Service Award. Having worked closely with Dr. Jarriel over the course of her tenure at Georgia College, I believe I am in an excellent position to speak sincerely and accurately regarding her many distinguished traits and accolades. Therefore, please allow me a moment to highlight a few of those traits that I believe make her the top candidate for this year's honor.

Foremost, Dr. Jarriel has accrued a distinguished Academic Service record. She has served as the Assistant Director in the School of Health and Human Performance since 2020 with distinction. Beyond her exceptional performance of the standard aspects of the position, and in addition to her regular teaching course load, Dr. Jarriel has taken the initiative to enhance graduate student enrollment, promote a monthly departmental newsletter, and organize a collaborative departmental D2L page. She also regularly serves on Dissertation and Thesis committees in roles as Chair and Committee Member; advises graduate students with academic and professional goals; manages all undergraduate petitions, participates in Fall-Fest and Spring-Fest recruitment events, and has served as the Internship Coordinator for the Public Health program.

Furthermore, in addition to her exceptional Academic Service record, Dr. Jarriel has accumulated extensive Professional Service experience. She served as the Southeast Athletic Trainer's Association Educator's Conference Co-Chair for five years, as well as the Southeast Athletic Trainer's Association Education Chair for five years. She currently continues to serve as a CAATE Accreditation site visitor and reviewer for Athletic Training programs as well as serves as a member of the Undergraduate Education Committee of Georgia Athletic Trainers. Additionally, Dr. Jarriel is a manuscript reviewer for the Athletic Training Education Journal, a Manuscript Reviewer for the Undergraduate Research Journal, and an external reviewer for the University of Idaho's Tenure and Promotion committee.

Moreover, in conjunction with her Academic and Professional Service accolades, Dr. Jarriel maintains an exhaustive Institutional Service record. At the University level she is currently a member of the 2023 COHS Dean's Search Committee, a member of the Academic Advising Advisory Council, a member of the Graduate Research Poster Exhibit & Competition committee, a member of the SOTL Awards committee, the Co-Chair of the Women's Leadership Faculty Fellows Program, a regular Graduation Marshal, and has recently served on the Provost search committee, University Graduate Council, and the President's Academic Innovation Taskforce. At the College level, Dr. Jarriel Chairs and serves as a member on numerous Tenure and Promotion committees, as a member on the Curriculum committee, as the Chair of the Inclusive Excellence committee, and has led the COHS committee developing the new COHS IFR evaluation instrument. At the Departmental level, Dr. Jarriel serves as the Chair and member on numerous faculty search committees, as a member of the SHHP Scholarship Awards committee, as the Chair of the SHHP Pre and Post Tenure Review committee, and as a new faculty mentor.

MILLEDGEVILLE • MACON • WARNER ROBINS

*Georgia College & State University, established in 1889, is Georgia's Public Liberal Arts University.
University System of Georgia*

Finally, in addition to her aforementioned Academic, Professional, and Institutional Service roles, Dr. Jarriel regularly serves on numerous Community organizations. These include the Georgia College Public Health Advisory committee, the Old Capitol Soccer League Board, and the Life Enrichment Center to name a few.

Hence, if you are seeking a bright, confident, qualified, deserving candidate for the 2023 Georgia College Excellence in University Service Award, who embodies the skills, knowledge and dispositions academia and society hold in high regard, then Dr. Amanda Jarriel must be your primary candidate.

Dr. Kevin P Hunt

Dr. Kevin Hunt
Professor
IRB Chair
Program Coordinator
School of Health & Human Performance
Kevin.Hunt@gcsu.edu
478-445-3926

MILLEDGEVILLE • MACON • WARNER ROBINS

*Georgia College & State University, established in 1889, is Georgia's Public Liberal Arts University.
University System of Georgia*

Craig M. Turner Excellence in University Service Award
Georgia College & State University
Milledgeville, Ga 31061

Dear Members of the Craig M. Turner Excellence in University Service Award Selection Committee:

It is my pleasure and honor to nominate Dr. Mandy Jarriel for the Craig M. Turner Excellence in University Service Award. Dr. Jarriel has been teaching at Georgia College since the Fall of 2006. Through her professional career at Georgia College, she has consistently been involved in service endeavors that have impacted Georgia Colleges campus and Milledgeville community members. Her service-oriented leadership is attested through her unwavering dedication and sustained record of service at Georgia College. I cannot think of another faculty member more deserving of recognition for their exemplary service.

Dr. Jarriel has been my coworker at Georgia College for seven years. Her dedication to service at Georgia College has been and continues to be significantly impactful to the mission and vision of Georgia College. During her seventeen years at Georgia College, she has served as the clinical education coordinator and program director of the undergraduate athletic training program, the program director of the graduate athletic training program, and currently serves as the assistant director of the School of Health and Human Performance. As the program director, she worked diligently to phase out Georgia Colleges undergraduate Athletic Training program, then designed the curriculum for a Master of Science in Athletic Training which ultimately led to receiving accreditation for the state of Georgia's first public liberal arts Master of Athletic Training. Having said that, Dr. Jarriel continues to play a pivotal role in maintaining accreditation for Georgia Colleges graduate athletic training program through her services at both the national and state level. To name a few, Dr. Jarriel currently serves as a CAATE accreditation site visitor/reviewer and has served as the Southeastern Athletic Trainer's Association Education Chair as well as serving on the National Athletic Trainer's Association workgroup on interprofessional education.

Dr. Jarriel's dedication to service extends far beyond athletic training. She serves on numerous College of Health Science, School of Health and Human Performance, and University level committees. Such as, College of Health Science Inclusive Excellence Committee Chair, College of Health Science Curriculum committee, and Georgia College Women's Leadership Faculty Fellows Program Co-Chair. Her unwavering dedication to each of these committees is driven by her professional goals in cultivating student engagement, fostering collegiality, enhancing inclusivity, and developing equity minded healthcare professionals.

And while she serves internally on numerous committees, she also shares her time and passion for others within the community of Milledgeville. She continues to serve as Georgia Colleges Public Health advisory Committee Board and pours her heart into the safety and well-being of

MILLEDGEVILLE • MACON • WARNER ROBINS

*Georgia College & State University, established in 1889, is Georgia's Public Liberal Arts University.
University System of Georgia*

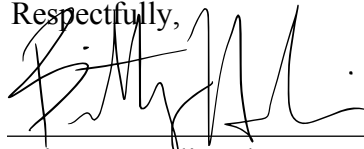

Milledgeville's children by serving as an Old Capital Soccer League Board Member. Furthermore, during her time at Georgia College she has been a community volunteer for the Life Enrichment Center- a private nonprofit program for adults with intellectual disabilities.

Finally, Dr. Jarriel's time and dedication to Georgia College is admirable. She invests wholeheartedly into giving back to her alma mater and the community in which she resides, and this mirrors her exemplary service at the college, university, local, state, and national level. For these reasons above, I ask that you humbly consider Dr. Jarriel in your selection for the Craig M. Turner Excellence in University Service Award.

Thank you for your consideration.

Respectfully,

---

Brittney Hardin, Ph.D., LATC, ATC
Georgia College and State University
School of Health & Human Performance
Lecturer, Clinical Education Coordinator
Graduate Athletic Training Program

MILLEDGEVILLE • MACON • WARNER ROBINS

*Georgia College & State University, established in 1889, is Georgia's Public Liberal Arts University.
University System of Georgia*

I am humbled to be selected as the College of Health Sciences nominee for the Craig M. Turner Excellence in University Service award. I find it hard to categorically dissect my service from teaching and scholarship, however, a quote that continues to speak to me throughout my tenure at the university states “As we lose ourselves in the service of others, we discover our own lives and our own happiness.” (Dieter F. Uchtdorf) It is here at Georgia College through my span of service opportunities, whether it be through teaching or administration, that I have discovered my own professional and personal identity, and intrinsically, my definition of happiness.

The included abbreviated vita highlights a listing of specific service recognitions, however in no way does it narrate the impact these roles have had on me personally and to the university community collectively.

Service to the Institution

School of Health and Human Performance

Initially serving programmatically as the Athletic Training Program’s Clinical Education Coordinator (2012-2016), I worked with preceptors and coordinated student assignments within the surrounding community as well as organized professional development and community volunteer engagement opportunities. Progressing to assume Program Director (2017-2020) and now Assistant Director of the School (2020-current) positions, I span all program disciplines within the school and work with undergraduate students at all levels assisting in academic advising, research mentorship, and career internship placement decisions. Student engagement within this role also includes having served as the faculty advisor for student organizations, guest lectures to our student athletes for various topics such as eating disorders and nutrition, an advisor for the Wellness Residential Learning Community, and even inclusivity and diversity mentorship such as the SOAR program and now Adopt-an-Admit program.

Serving on multiple faculty search committees at all levels and across various disciplines (Exercise Science, Public Health, and Athletic Training), chairing pre/post tenure committees, and becoming a new faculty mentor created unintended occasions for faculty connection and development. These commitments led to the construction of ongoing relationships among faculty and peers building both collaborative teaching beyond the classroom and professional development connections.

College of Health Sciences

Fostering collegial relationships extends beyond the school level. At the college wide level, I strive to work interprofessionally and collaboratively across the unit. Various roles on search, inclusive excellence, and curriculum committees as well as appointments to serve on taskforces and steering committees continue to deepen the networks I serve.

The University

And finally, to examine my university service, one would find an eclectic expansion of activities that impacts the university community on many levels. Here I have participated in activities surrounding Fallfest and Springfest events, contribute to all freshman orientations, and have actively been involved in Week of Welcome, Midnight breakfast, and book discussions (honors). I assist the Registrar through Marshalling in Winter and Spring graduation ceremonies annually, participate in university convocation events, and by nature of my discipline engage within the healthcare activities of athletics when feasible. In sum, I feel that I see many activities full circle- recruitment, development, and in the end commencement.

In recent years I have been able to participate in higher academic level searches including the COHS Dean, Athletic Sports Medicine Director, and University Provost. With a value to shared governance, I have been a member of university senate (serving on SAPC, FAPC, and APC) as well as have participated as a member of graduate council and the university academic advising advisory council. Serving as a reviewer for university level awards (SoTL and creative endeavors) and graduate research poster competitions allows for linkage across all disciplines of the university.

Finally, my recent roles as the Women's Leadership Faculty Fellows Program (WLFFP) faculty associate and now the WLFFP co-chair afford connections with colleagues across the university and beyond through growing leadership networks. Within these roles I have assisted in retreat planning, organized monthly speaker sessions, and worked collaboratively to navigate fiscal program needs. Little did I know that through these service opportunities I would discover self-fulfillment in ways I could never prescribe.

Service to the Profession

While higher education opportunities have grown exponentially within the past several years, my core remains true to my field of practice as a clinician. As such, options to combine service within academia and the profession have united into professional areas of growth.

I recently served as an External Review Committee Member for tenure and promotion for a faculty member within athletic training at the University of Idaho, providing my expertise both within administration and athletic training education. I am a current Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education site visitor/reviewer, working for the past six years as both a reader and team member. I fulfill manuscript reviewer roles for both the Undergraduate Research Journal and the Athletic Training Education Journal. I have served the Southeast Athletic Trainer's Association as the Education Chair and Educator's Conference Co-Chair, organizing in the event planning of three education conferences, as well as have served as a faculty instructor for the Southeast Athletic Trainer's Association student conference for the past seven years. I have helped construct new by-laws through my work on the state athletic trainer's committee (Georgia Athletic Trainer's Association By Law Committee) and have achieved national recognition assisting with the National Athletic Trainer's Association Workgroup on Interprofessional Education's completion of a White Paper for the profession.

Although the professional realm has lent itself to prolific growth, it is through civic engagement that I have found even greater meaningful involvement within the community.

Service to the Community

Civic responsibility transcends the walls of the university. Working as an athletic trainer within the community for local high schools and travel and recreation leagues provides holistic connections on the healthcare, wellness, and safety of families and youth within our area. Whether it be presenting CPR and First Aid trainings to coaches, establishing flexibility programs for teams, or revising health and safety handbooks, this role in advocacy remains a passion. I have also presented on topics of Body Image and Nutrition to GC's Early College Program as well as local elementary schools. This advocacy is extended through my position as secretary on the local Old Capital Soccer league board.

In addition to my position and connection within the community from an athlete wellness perspective, I also play a role within the public health realm through my position on Georgia College's Public Health Advisory board to assist in providing feedback on components of public health education. And finally, while I may have participated in various volunteer type events such as Relay for Life or health leadership camps, my work with the Life Enrichment Center- an organization for adults with developmental disabilities is an engagement that I hold close to my heart. For three years, each Friday morning we would take our second year athletic training students and meet a group of the LEC clients at Bodyplex (a gym here in our community). We would work with the LEC group on the fitness components of balance, strength, and kinesthetic awareness- while that was our contribution, the absolute joy and connections we received in turn were immeasurable. This experience taught both myself and the students more than we could ask in return.

To conclude, while the various hours, committees, positions, etc. of my service may be quantifiable, what cannot be measured is the amount of joy and connections these opportunities have provided.

Amanda Jackson Jarriel PhD, ATC, LAT

Professor Athletic Training, Assistant Director School of Health and Human Performance mandy.jarriel@gcsu.edu

Degrees Earned

PhD	2011	University of Georgia Education: Recreation and Leisure Studies
MEd.	2004	Georgia College and State University Education: Health Promotion
B.S.	2003	Georgia College and State University Education: Health Education Concentration: Athletic Training

Appointment(s) at Georgia College

- 2022-current; Professor, Assistant Director, School of Health and Human Performance, College of Health Sciences
- 2020-current; Associate Professor, Assistant Director, School of Health and Human Performance, College of Health Sciences
- 2017-2020; Associate Professor, Program Director, School of Health and Human Performance, College of Health Sciences
- 2012-2016; Assistant Professor, Clinical Education Coordinator/Program Director, School of Health and Human Performance, College of Health Sciences (Program Director 2015-current)
- 2009-2012; Permanent Lecturer, Clinical Education Coordinator Athletic Training, School of Health and Human Performance, College of Health Sciences
- 2006-2009; Limited Term Lecturer, Department of Kinesiology, School of Health Sciences (Community Health (06/07), Exercise Science (07/08), Athletic Training (08/09))

Additional Academic Responsibility

- External dissertation committee member Rocky Mountain University of Health Professions
- External dissertation committee member Boling Green University
- Advised graduate student assistants in Masters of Human Performance Program
- Advised Georgia College MSAT student projects (approximately 12+/year)
- Thesis committee member/Chair
- Liberal Arts Studies Advisor
- Academic Advisor
- Interim SHHP Internship Coordinator for Public Health (Fall 2021 and Spring 2022)

Leadership Training and Development

2020-Current	Georgia College Women's Fellows Faculty Associate and Co-Chair, Milledgeville, GA
2020-Current	Women in Leadership Certificate, ECornell University
2019/2020	Georgia College Women's Leadership Faculty Fellows Program
2019/2020	Myers Brigg Type Indicator Training, Milledgeville, GA
2019	Emotional Intelligence Training, Milledgeville, GA
2015	Executive Leadership for Women Program, Kennesaw, GA.

Professional Service

2020	External Review Committee Member for T&P, University of Idaho
2016- Current	CAATE Accreditation site visitor/reviewer
2021-Current	Manuscript Reviewer, Undergraduate Research Journal
2016-Current	Athletic Training Education Journal Manuscript Reviewer
2015-2020	Southeast Athletic Trainer's Association Education Chair

2015-2020	Southeast Athletic Trainer's Association Educator's Conference Co-Chair
2015	Georgia Athletic Trainer's Association By Law Committee Editor
2015	Moderator at National Athletic Trainer's Association Educator's Conference
2014	National Athletic Trainer's Association Workgroup on Interprofessional Education
2013	Session Moderator at National Athletic Trainer's Educator's Conference
2013	Clinical Preceptor Training, GCSU Athletic Training Program
2010	Approved Clinical Instructor Training, GCSU Athletic Training Education Program
2010-present	Undergraduate Education Committee, Georgia Athletic Trainers' Association
2010	Speaker to Baldwin High School High Achievers Program
2009	Presentation on Body Image to GCSU Cheerleaders, GCSU Athletics
2009	Clinical Athletic Trainer for Georgia Military College and John Milledge Academy
2009-2014	Instructor, Student Southeastern Athletic Trainer's Association Conference
2007-2008	Planning Committee for Women and Girls in Georgia Conference
2008	Session moderator at Women and Girls in Georgia Conference

VIII. Service to the Institution

University committees

2022	Adopt an Admit Program Faculty Contact
2021	Director of Sports Medicine Search Committee Member, GC Athletics
2019-Current	Graduate Research Poster Exhibit & Competition Committee Member
2018-Current	Excellence in SoTL & Creative Endeavors Awards Committee
2018-2019	Georgia College Provost Search Committee Member
2018-2020	University Graduate Council
2016-current	Academic Advising Advisory Council
2015	Faculty Affairs Policy Committee: University Senate
2013/2014	Student Affairs Policy Committee: University Senate (Vice Chair)
2012/2013	Academic Policy Committee: University Senate
2012-2015	University Senate
2012/2014	University Teaching Excellence Awards Committee
2012-2016	Women's Studies Advisory Board
2011-2013	Subcommittee for SACS Review (Registrar/Academic Credit) (GCSU)
2011- 2015	Map Works Faculty Advisory Committee (Georgia College & State University)
2010	Strategic Planning Working Group:Marketing and Retention (GCSU)
2007-2010	Wellness Residential Learning Community Planning Committee

College of Health Science Committees

2022	COHS College Review of Candidates for Promotion to Full Professor
2022	COHS Taskforce to develop new faculty eval tool for college
2022	COHS Dean Search Committee Member
2022-Current	COHS Inclusive Excellence Committee Chair
2018	COHS Dean Search Committee Member
2016-Current	COHS Curriculum Committee
2012-2014	COHS Strategic Directions Steering Committee
2010-2012	Diversity Committee (College of Health Sciences)
2008-2012	Wellness Advisory Committee

School of Health and Human Committees

2022	SHHP Faculty Mentor
2022	SHHP Lecturer in Exercise Science Search Committee Member
2021	SHHP Internship Coordinator Search Committee Member
2020-2022	SHHP Scholarship Awards Committee
2020-2023	SHHP Chair of Pre and Post Tenure Review Committee
2019/20	Athletic Training Assistant Professor Athletic Training Search Member

2018	Public Health Assistant Professor Faculty Search Committee Member
2017	Athletic Training Assistant Professor Faculty Search Chair
2012-Present	Graduate Student Research and Project Mentor
2011	Department of Kinesiology Department Chair Search Committee (GCSU)
2008-2014	Recruitment and Retention Subcommittee
2006-2008	Social Subcommittee
University-Wide Service
2022	President's Academic Innovation Taskforce
2022	Fallfest Academic Participation
2021-Current	Georgia College Women's Leadership Faculty Fellows Program Co-Chair
2020-2021	Georgia College Women's Leadership Faculty Fellows Program Faculty Fellow
2017-current	Faculty Marshall Winter and Spring Graduations
2018-current	Annual Women's Health guest lecturer on Eating Disorders and Body Image
2016	Honor's Book Discussion Facilitator
2014/2015/2016	Faculty Moderator, Georgia College Student Research Conference
2013-2015	Faculty Marshall Spring and Winter Graduations
2013	University Freshman Circle Reading Group Leader
2012-2015	University SOAR Mentor
2010	Member of Department of Kinesiology Community Health Search Committee
2010	Member of GCSU Department of Athletics Softball Coach Search Committee
2010	Faculty Moderator GCSU Student Research Conference
2009/2010	Body Image Presentation to GCSU's Early College
2009	Midnight Breakfast Volunteer
2008-2020	Faculty Advisor to Athletic Training Student Organization
2008	Presenter to GCSU Women's Basketball on Nutrition
2008	Assisted in Physicals for GCSU Athletics
2007-present	Georgia College Wellness Residential Learning Community Faculty Coordinator
2007, 2008, 2011	Circles Group Leader
2007-2008	Week of Welcome Activities
2007-2008	Breast Cancer Festival Planning Committee
2007	Assisted in GCSU Athletic Auction
2006-2009	Fallfest, Springfest, and New Student Orientation

IX. Community Service

2022-Current	GC Public Health Advisory Committee Board Member
2020-Current	Old Capital Soccer League Board Member ( Secretary )
2017-present	Life Enrichment Center Community Volunteer
2015/16	Baldwin County Community Recreation Safety Initiative
2008	"Hands on Milledgeville Day," Walter B. Williams Park, Milledgeville, GA
2008	American Cancer Society, Relay for Life
2008	Potato Drop, The Give Center GCSU
2007	American Cancer Society "Relay for Life" T-Shirt, Cancer Survivor Dinner
2007	Body Image and Nutrition to John Milledge Academy , 5 th grade class
2007	Diabetes prevention session at Wellness Depot for National Diabetes Month
2006	"Lights on Afterschool" highlighting after school programming in Baldwin County
2006	Chris Draft First Leadership Camp for the Boys and Girls Clubs of Atlanta
2006	Camp Wannaklot at Camp Twin Lakes in Rutledge GA
2005	"Power of Choice" Health Leadership Camp, Flowery Branch, GA