

The Office of Inclusive Excellence hosted its 3rd annual Making Excellence Inclusive Day Program: "Toolkit for an Inclusive Community" on Thursday, August 6, from 1 p.m. - 4 p.m. The program included live and recorded presentations from specialists in their fields and a panel discussion with Georgia College faculty, staff, and students. The sessions were moderated by Diversity Trainer and Consultant, Dr Diane Goodman. The goal of this year's Making Excellence Inclusive Program was to provide useful tools for faculty and staff to understand and address the recurring challenges to diversity and inclusion that we face on our campus.
