

Women's Faculty Fellows Leadership Program Fellow

Dr. Katie Simon is an Associate Professor in the English Department. She earned a B.A. and a PhD in English from the University of California, Berkeley, and an M.A. in English from Mills College. Prior to joining the faculty at Georgia College in 2010, she served as an adjunct professor in the English Department at Mills College. She teaches courses focused on American literature, Critical Theory, and Ecocriticism. She is a founding member of the Women and Gender Studies Program Advisory Board, and has served as the interim Program Coordinator for the M.A. Program in English. She served a term on Faculty Senate, and on the Faculty Affairs Committee, and has been on the Graduate Council and the Dean's Advisory Committee. Her published work appears in: ESQ: A Journal of Nineteenth-Century Literature; Eighteenth-Century Fiction; Women's Studies: An Interdisciplinary Journal; and Bad Subjects: Political Action for Everyday Life. She is currently at work on two book projects: an edited collection on Southern Ecocriticism and a book on Transcendentalism and Race. In 2014, she was awarded Georgia College's Excellence in Teaching Award..