Dear Colleague,

Dubbed the “Harvard of Hellish Violence” by the Washington Post, I’m excited to invite your students to join us for Session VIII of the National Forensic Academy (NFA) Collegiate Program at the University of Tennessee Law Enforcement Innovation Center in Oak Ridge, TN. This 3-week residential program is an exceptional way for your students to gain specialized education with which few can compete in today’s job market. The program includes class work and field exercises in crime scene management, shooting incident reconstruction, bloodstain pattern analysis, forensic anthropology, human decomposition and time since death, skeletal and human remains recovery, proper collection of evidence found in association with human remains, and other areas.

The $4800 cost includes all tuition and fees, housing which consists of fully furnished 2 bedroom/2 bath apartments shared by participants, supplies, and personal protective equipment. Food, transportation, and personal expenses are additional. Payment plans are available. In most cases, students can use their financial aid.

Program dates are July 7-26, 2019. Participants must be admitted to UT Martin as “Transient” students for the 2019 Summer term. All students earn 9 hours of academic credit, and course grades (A-F) will be entered on official transcripts for transfer back to your institution.

Space is limited. Reservations are filled on a first come, first served basis so please encourage your students to contact us soon if they have any questions or need additional information. I hope several of them will join us next summer!

Kindest regards,

Brian W. Donavant, Ph.D.
Professor of Criminal Justice
The University of Tennessee at Martin
121 Sociology Building
Martin, TN 38238
731.881.3510
bdonavant@utm.edu