Dr. Amena O. Anderson joined the West Virginia University Leadership Studies Program fall of 2017. A former Director of Multicultural Affairs, Campus Retention Specialist, and Statewide Director of the WV Achievement Project—an Advanced Placement (AP) initiative, she is a seasoned educational leader with extensive experience in both public and private higher education. In her past roles as an educational administrator, Dr. Anderson taught and developed curriculum for courses in the First Year College Experience, Speech and Intercultural Communication, and Professional and Cross-Cultural Studies. In her current role, as Teaching Assistant Professor of Leadership Studies, Dr. Anderson teaches both undergraduate and graduate-level leadership courses and is the faculty advisor of the distinguished Milan Puskar Leadership Scholars Program. Additionally, Dr. Anderson is a member of WVU ADVANCE, an interdisciplinary team of faculty whose empirically-grounded work promotes equitable policies and practices in both academic and non-academic units across the university.
